Tenant Engagement System Local Engagement Option Voter's Guide

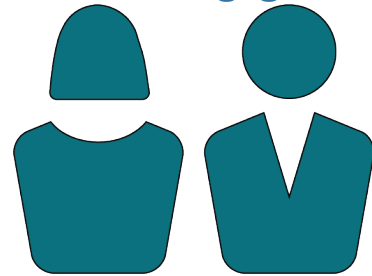

Get ready to cast your vote for the option that best fits for your community.

Which option will you choose?

Participating in the Tenant Engagement System Refresh will allow your community to get involved in local decision-making. Tenants will be able to address local priorities, be represented, and have their voice heard in the community. Tenants will vote on the engagement option that best fits their community. There are four options:

Community Representatives

Part of the Tenant Engagement System

Tenants elect two representatives for every 250 households.

Elected members:

- work with Toronto Community Housing and partners to address community priorities
- implement and monitor the Community's Action Plan
- represent their community at the Tenant Community Action Table

Building/Townhouse Committee

Part of the Tenant Engagement System

Open to all tenants.

Each committee:

- works with Toronto Community Housing and partners to address community priorities
- implements and monitors the Community's Action Plan
- selects two members to represent their community at the Tenant Community Action Table

Tenant Association

Independent

Independent from Toronto Community Housing.

Each association:

- is an independent membership group
- can choose to form a tenant association in addition to being engaged in the refreshed Tenant Engagement System
- has no community representation at the Tenant Community Action Table

No Representation

Independent

Tenants will have no community representation in the refreshed Tenant Engagement System.

No representation means:

- no representation in local decision-making
- a community is unable to implement and monitor their Community's Action Plan
- no community representation at the Tenant Community Action Table
