A message from the R-PATH committee

Did you know?

If you receive the Canada Pension Plan (CPP) or Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS), you may qualify for extended medical benefit from the Ontario Disability Support Program (ODSP). This is outlined in Sections 44 and 45 of the ODSP Regulation.

This benefit can help you be able to afford the supplies and equipment you may need, including:

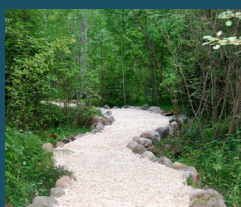

- prescription drugs
- basic dental care
- vision care, routine eye exams, hearing aids
- medical supplies (such as dressing, diabetic or incontinence supplies)
- transportation to medical appointments
- 25 per cent of the cost of a mobility aid provided by the Assistive Devices Program (ADP) in cases where ADP pays the other 75 per cent of the cost
- the assessment you need to apply for ADP funding
- repairs and batteries for mobility devices.

To learn more about this program and how to apply, contact your local ODSP office.
